In the last race Tickful looks well on his race of yesterday. He held his speed for seven furlongs and faltered only at the end. If he can get to the fore at the start to-day he may held the place to the end. Bengal would have been the legical choice here last year, but his sole start this searon was so lacking in impressivyness that Four Leaf C. should be placed before him. The second race ought to afford an interesting betting proposition. In this event Sonya and The Doctress will again try conclusions. They met May 4 in a race where The Doctress got slightly the best of the start, while Sonya was shut off long enough to prevent the free use of her speed.

Bar LeDuc looks quite a bit the best in the fifth race, although it is hard to select against W. B. Gates, Rice's horse. The Messenger did nothing in about six races until last out, when there was a good price up, and then he won. The Messenser may be ready to-day. If so there is nothing in the race that will stop him from winning. This prediction is based upon his race of last Saturday. Establish is not dangerous. Prince of Endurance has been running honest and consistent races and has a chance.

The last race is a tough one, but Sabbinal should win it. Tom Oley should be second and either Don Alvaro or Little Margaret third. The latter is favorite. St. Noel has run two bad races lately and cannot be picked to get in the money.

THE REPUBLIC'S DAILY RACING FORM CHARTS. NUMBER 2 WAS LUCKY FIGURE ON DELMAR RACE TRACK.

Horses Bearing That Number Won Five Out of Six Races, and Second Horse From Top of the Card Captured Every Event-Lucian Won Handicap,

Horses who bore the number "I" in their races at Delmar yesterday won every race on the card save the fifth—and even here the second horse from the top of the list was returned the victor. Larry Wilt, who headed the entries, having been withdrawn shortly before the race.

Starting with Lou Beach and Major Outlook, and going on down through Tower. Lucian and Lovable, the number "2" was Lucian and Lovable, the number "I" was borne to the fore. Had Larry Will been withdrawn before noon. Frank Rice, winner of the fifth race, would have been No.

2 on the programme. As it was, he was the second horse in the list.

The proverbial It peries on the second horse from the top of the programme would have netted slightly more than $2,20 in the course of the day—in spite of the fact that Frank Rice was the only horse to win with fairly long chances against him. Had a bettor confined himself to the No. I, however, things would have gone swimmingly until the fifth race, when he would have had to play Birdwood. He would then have had the gratification of seeing this noble animal come in somewhere in the rear, and the number "I" repeat in the last race—with his parley gone.

GALLANT PRONTA FELL IN FEATURE.

Two Horses Turned Somersaults at Union, but Neither Animal Nor Jockey Was Hurt.

The uncertainty of a horse race, and just how far luck will follow Captain R. R. Rice, were demonstrated in the feature at Union Park yesterday afternoon, when the splendid Pronta, leading by four lengths in the stretch, stepped into a hole, fell, threw her jockey, Sinclair, breaking his collar bone and bruising the Rain or Shine also fell and R. Murphy was thrown violently to the ground. W. B. Gates, Rice's horse, who scarce had a chance, barring the accident, won. escape of Jockeys Sinclair and

The escape of Jockeys Sinclair and Ralph Murphy and the horses Rain or Shine and Pronta from serious injury was remarkable. Pronta slumbled while turning into the stretch and went down. Sammy Heidel, on Macbeth, was some four lengths behind her. He saw the slumble, pulled Macbeth out and escaped the fall. Rain or Shine was about ten lengths behind Macbeth, but Murphy evidently did not see the failon Pronta. He let his mount swerve from the outside to the inside and fall over the mare. Rain or Shine turned a somersault and fell with a thad that could be heard a quarter of a mile away. He lay as if doad for ten minutes, then arose and walked away, apparently uninjured by his tumble. The coit is worth 5,000, and is conceded to be the best 3-year-old in St. Louis. He is a grand-looking Rainbow coit. Pronta was lame from a sore shoulder and a bit skinned up, but Mr. Bellew thinks that she will be all right in a day or two.

Sinclair and Murphy escaped in almost a miraculous manner. The former had his collar bone wrenched. He arose and walked away as if uninjured, but fainted after an interval. Murphy was afoot immediately, trying to help the prostrate Rain or Shine, and rode in the fifth race. Murphy is not the original R. Murphy, though his name is Raiph, He is under contract to Tom Hurns and is rated a good bey.

Pronta was a prime favortte in the race. Ralph Murphy and the horses Rain or boy.

Prenta was a prime favorite in the race at odds on. In the break from the barrier in front of the grand stand all got away well, except Rain or Shine. The latter seems to be unfortunate in the matter of getting away, despite the endeavor of the fockey. In the break in the race yesterday, the field carried the barrier with them. It was one of the few bad starts that Arthur McKnight has had during the meeting. Procta and Macbeth went to the from meeting.

Protta and Macbeth went to the front, and although beaten off in the start, Rain or Shine, with remarkable speed, took a good position, passed Kenova at the half and was lying into the rail behind Macbeth when Pronta fell.

Those who played Rice's luck cashed tickets on the race, but nothing but Rice luck won the race for W. B. Gates.

Pronta would have won, and the chances are that Rain or Shine would have been second and W. B. Gates third, had it not been for the accident.

Bearhunter, at 7 to 1, in the first race, was really the best bet of the day. Bearhunter cantered away from his field and won with great case.

Lucky Day won the second race, having coupled up with Jim Ferrin for two-thirds of the distance. Tiomaine got off badly, showed much speed, made up twenty lengths of lost ground and finished fourth.

Miss Gould handily defoated Lord Hermence in the third race. Maru was best. After being left twenty lengths at the post, Maru ran around the field and finished fourth.

The horses got off to a straggling start in the fifth race. Ora McKinney, with a good start, would probably have won, as she ran herself out trying to make up ground lost early in the race. Prince of Ebdurance won from Nimble Nag by a nose, and Ora McKinney was but a head behind.

It was a good day's racing. The books lost again. The attendance was fair, distinguished the 2-year-olds-it was the fact that all eight starters were of exactly the same that all eight starters were of exactly the same stade of cheatnut and were similarly marked. Every youngster was of a light shade of chesinut, known-outside of racing programmes—as sorrel. Each had a white blaze on his or her face. Each was about the same size as his neighbor. If it were customary to retire thoroughbreds of the running turf to harness in their later years, two perfectly matched four-in-hands could have been secured from the falls.

G. C. Baker started Dromio in this event. The coit was said to have shown good form in his work, but the fact that he was from the Baker stable would have made a larger percentage of the spectators play him, anyhow. He falled to show that he is a second Hroomhandle, but he has time for improvement.

J. E. Hughes bought Gay American just be-fore the fourth race yesterday, although the gelding ran in the colors of J. Nevins & Co., his former owners. Gay American made up two lengths in the first quarter, after starting a trifle slowly, was running nicely behind Lua trifle slowly, was running nicely behind Lu-cian, but was suddenly out off near the stable turn.

He was heremed in coming around the turn and leat some ground getting to the stretch head. But for this he would have been closer up. This race furnished about as good an example of what an even-betting proposition handicapping can make a race as could be afforded. Although only four horses started in the field, as good as 12 to 5 could have been had against each at one stage of the bettins. It was a race where it was difficult to select the favorite. Bookmakers followed their individual preference in making any horse first choice and raised the price on the others. Ficiale Saint was always better than 4 to 1, but with this axception every other starter in the race varied from 2 to 1 to 14 to 5. It was simply a case of pick the book with the best odds.
